English Kindergarten

The child plays and learns in English

We have created a friendly, English-speaking environment which facilitates the child's full development. The aim of the teaching method developed by PROMAR is to use a child's innate skills for learning foreign languages. It is based on the Total Immersion method, which means that the child is completely immersed in English-speaking environment. The child communicates freely, expresses their ideas, needs and emotions in English.

Language skills

In the PROMAR English Kindergarten a particular attention is paid to teaching language skills.

During the child's stay in the kindergarten, the teachers use only English. Each group spends at least five hours with a native speaker of English every day. The child communicates in English during everyday activities while playing, learning, eating, dancing or going for a walk. The outcome: the child begins to communicate in English naturally.

Cognitive and competence development

We stimulate the child's inquisitiveness about the world and provide them with knowledge by means of practical lessons, which are consistent with the subjects included in the national curriculum.

Elements of physics, chemistry and biology are introduced by applying them in simple activities such as freezing and melting water, baking buns, feeding birds in the winter or observing seasonal changes in nature, during walks in the nearby park.

Artistic development

We shape the sense of aesthetics and artistic sensibility during Art classes which include painting, sculpture and graphics.

Musical Appreciation Classes include eurhythmics as well as singing and dance classes to the accompaniment of musical instruments. Thanks to the dance classes, the children can express themselves through motion, practicing motor skills, coordination and bodily-kinesthetic memory at the same time. In the classes the child learns new songs and choreographies. The classes are conducted by a eurhythmics teacher and philharmonic musicians in Polish as well as by the PROMAR teachers in English.

Motor skills development

Motion is necessary for a child's healthy development. At our kindergarten, the child has numerous options of physical activities: physical games and activities, dance, eurhythmics and drama classes.

A very important part of every day is a walk or going to nearby playgrounds. Even in the winter the child spends at least half an hour outside. During the walks the child communicates with the teachers in English, learning the English names of things in the surrounding world.

Literacy skills

We shape children's taste in literature and a habit of reading by means of regular and creative contact with books. Native speakers read fairytales and stories to children.

The teachers conduct art and drama classes based on the stories read to children, encouraging the child in active acquisition and making creative use of the stories. These activities include drawing the characters, places described in the stories, making up alternative endings and acting out selected scenes and crafting theatrical props. The activities are conducted in English.

Socio-emotional development

Under careful teacher's supervision, the child learns the principles of community life: conduct towards others and how to behave in socially difficult situations.

Teachers' patience, warmth and understanding allow the child to learn how to solve peer conflicts independently. The child learns how to cope with various situations and uses English to express their needs as well as in regular interaction with other children and teachers.

Classrooms

Lessons take place in spacious classrooms equipped with modern multimedia equipment.

The Kindergarten is situated in the PROMAR Educational Centre Head Office in Rzeszów, ul. Bohaterów 12. The Kindergarten is separated from the rest of the building and it has its individual entrance. The Kindergarten is open all year round.
